

Alliance Source Testing Completes Acquisition of Golden Specialty's Stack Testing Business

April 14, 2017 – Alliance Source Testing, LLC (“AST”) has acquired the stack testing operations of Golden Specialty, Inc. (“Golden”). Golden provides source emission (or stack) testing services to industrial facilities in the western U.S. through offices in Houston, TX, Cedar Rapids, IA, Bellingham, WA and Salt Lake City, UT.

Partnering with Golden will allow the combined company to deepen customer relationships through greater proximity to existing and new served customer facilities. Together, AST and Golden have a strong national footprint of nine offices across Alabama, Arkansas, Texas, Pennsylvania, Utah, Washington and Iowa, with attractive geographic density in key regions and the technical expertise to serve a diverse range of end markets.

Scott Swiggard, CEO of Golden said, “We are happy to partner with AST to divest the stack testing portion of our business. They are a well-run, focused stack testing business that will serve our customers well. We will continue to offer lab services under the name Golden Specialty and look forward to a renewed focus on that business.”

AST CEO Chris LeMay noted, “We are excited to add the highly qualified and experienced employees from Golden Specialty to our team. The complementary geographies they serve will allow us to more completely serve our combined customers on a national basis.”

About Alliance Source Testing

Headquartered in Decatur, AL, AST is a leading provider of source emissions testing solutions to customers throughout the United States. With expertise in a variety of test methods, AST is uniquely qualified to provide customers with the highest quality and most cost-effective source testing solutions available. For more information, please visit www.stacktest.com.